What is Respekt

Respekt is published every Monday.

Basic scope: 76 pages

web: www.respekt.cz

Each week, Respekt independently comments on current domestic and foreign events. It deals with politics, economics and history, social topics and trends, follows news in the fields of science and research and pays a lot of attention to culture. A number of prominent personalities from various areas of human activity contribute to its pages.

Even its advertisements seem more trustworthy because they are considered part of the journal.

There are columns dedicated to Czech, Europe, America and observations made by Doctors Without Borders member Tomáš Šebek. Following the example of Die Zeit magazine, the permanent sections are supplemented by a survey. The texts taken from the American monthly The Atlantic are something extra.

The work of Respekt's editors is regularly awarded prestigious journalism awards - the Ferdinand Peroutka Award, the Karel Havlíček Borovský Journalism Award, and the Tom Stoppard Award, just to name a few. Respekt's photographers regularly gain top positions in the Czech Press Photo competition.

By advertising in Respekt, you are appealing to a unique and extremely loyal group of readers.

- Respekt's readers are looking for quality, and they perceive the information within as more respectable than in other titles.
- There isn't a journal with a similar focus on the market. Therefore, by advertising in Respekt, you are appealing to a unique and extremely loyal group of readers.*
